

Chapels for Nellore Diocese (India)

Father Y.C. has 12 mission stations. Nine of them have small chapels of their own where he can conduct Mass and prayer services. In three of the mission villages there are no chapels. Services are conducted either in people's homes or on the roadside. The financial condition of the people there is such that they cannot build the chapels on their own. They may support the project(s) by doing physical labor during the construction of the chapel(s). The total cost for each will be approximately $18,000 to $20,000. The chapels will be about 40' by 23'. They will be very simple with no air conditioning or pews inside the chapel. Normally it will take three to four months to complete. Father's wish is that before he leaves the parish at Giddalur these chapels will be built in the three mission villages. Father Y.C. hopes our parishioners understand the need of the people he serves. During the rainy seasons it is very difficult to conduct services in these villages. Sometimes it's impossible to travel to these locations.

Enclosed in this week's bulletin is an envelope for anyone wishing to contribute to one of the chapels. If there is enough interest from our parish it may even be possible that the chapel be named for our church. If someone wants to donate the entire amount for a chapel in memory of a loved one, they will be able to name the chapel after the saint of their choosing. A memorial stone will be displayed on the outside of the chapel in memory of your loved one. You may leave your envelope in the collection basket this week or at Father's farewell dinner on August 5th.
